THE SENATORS DISCUSS APPROPRI-ATION BILLS PRO AND CON.

A New Congressional Apportionment Bill by Senator Brown-Resolution for a Constitutional Convention Defeated in the House-Notes.

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 14.—(Special.) Last night's session of the senate was devoted to the discussion of two appropriation bills, one for the state agricultural college and one establishing a tax levy of $19,000 per annum for support of the state university. As reported from the committee of ways and means, the bill for the agricultural college carried but $14,500 but, upon motion of Senator Parker, an additional $10,000 was incorperated for the construction of hall of domestic science.

The bill for the state university called out a long debate. Some of the Popullat senators, ied by Landis, Dennison and Jumper, demanded that the appropriation be kept at its present figure, which is $15,000 for hor for the death of her husbands of the college could not be met with $15,000 per annum. Senator Rogers, who is a Popullst, warned his side that the party which impeded the cause of cilicaction in Kansas would go down to certain ruin, Senator Scott and Thacher made eloquent pleas for the institution, and the first named was particularly eloquent when he spoke of the Populist attempt to cut down Chancellor Snow's salary. A vote upon the bill was not reached last night.

As a sequel to the debate on the university bill iast night, Senator Jumper introduced a bill this morning which makes it uniawful for a senator to hold an appointive office under the state. This bill was not reached last night; was almed at Senators Scott and Rogers, who are regents of the university, Jumper endeavored by several motions to advance his bill, but was voted down at every turn, and finally, when the president referred his bill to the committee on penal bill was not reached last night.

As a sequel to the debate on the university bill last night, Senator Jumper introduced a bill this morning which makes it unlawful for a senator to hold an appointive office under the state. This bill was aimed at Senators Scott and Rogers, who are regents of the university, Jumper endeavored by several motions to advance his bill, but was voted down at every turn, and finally, when the president referred his bill to the committee on penalinstitutions, instead of the committee on penalinstitutions, instead of the committee on enducation, where ne wished it to go, he appealed from the decision of the chair and was silenced for good and all by a pronounced vote to sustain the chair. The sonators never tire of introducing bills. The following came up fresh and rosy to-day:

But two bills were upon final passage to-day, and both were pussed. One establishes a county high school in Marshall county. The other was a bill which had already passed the house, entitled "An act to create a commission and provide for the erection of monuments and tablets to mark the position of Kansas troops on the battle-fields of Chickamauga and Chattanooga." This bill provides that the governor shall appoint a commission of three ex-soldiers who served honorably upon these battle-fields to superintend the creation of these tablets; and the bill carries an appropriation of $5.60 to be expended in the work.

To investigate the Silk Station.

Senator O'Bryan introduced the following

To Investigate the Silk Station.
Senator O'Bryan introduced the following self-explanatory resolution to-day:
Be it resolved by the senate of the state of Kansas, that Whereas, The following facts and figures are shown by the records in the office of the Historical Society and other offices connected with the state department, to-wit;

are shown by the records in the offices of the Historical Society and other offices connected with the state department, to-wit:

First—That 'u 1857 the legislature of the state of Kansas appropriated $12,050 to establish a silk station and to encourage silk culture, and one was established at Peabody, Kas. The result, as shown by the silk commissioner, page 6, as filed in the State Historical Society, ES, catalogue, shows that up to March 19, 1885, this appropriation and $56,68 received from the sale of silk, had been used as follows: 88,621,85 in building and other permanent investments; $56,49 balance on hand and in state treasury, and $5,325,89 had been absolutely consumed in producing $56,68 worth of silk. From March 19, 1885, to 1898, $2,021,15 was consumed in producing $1,62,57 worth of silk; $1,20 worth of eggs and $59 silk.

From April 1, 1890, to January 1, 1891, $5,14,55 was used in producing $1,78,05 worth of silk. (See report of state silk commissioner for 1885 and 1890, page 4, State Historical Society, it appears that $2,28,56 has been expended in producing $423,18 worth of recled silk.

The first report shows the silk produced to have cost the state in excess of what the state received for it, about $5,30 per pound. Then under Mr. Brewer's management it cost in excess of what the state received for it $1,88 per pound. Under Mr. Huck's management, first report, it cost in excess of what the state received for it, $3,90 per pound. Then under Mr. Brewer's management it cost in excess of what the state received for it $1,88 per pound. Under Mr. Huck's management, first report, it cost in excess of what the state received for it $1,89 per pound. Under Mr. Huck's management, first report, it cost in excess of what the state received for it in 1892. L. A. Buck is still silk commissioner, and the state received for it in 1892. During this time the commissioner received as salary of 189 per year, nearly $2 per pound, for all the silk he turned out.

Heleving that the Kansas state silk station at Feabody, ment thereof should be investigated, therefore, be it.

Resolved, By this senate that a committee of three be appointed for the ways and means committee to at once examine the condition of affairs at the said slik statum at Peabody, Kas, said committee having power to bring witnesses before it, and pointed the production or books and other necessary evidence, and make a report to this senate with a view to having said slik station placed upon a more paying basis, and that said committee shall receive from the state no pay except their actual expenses on sworn voinchers by each member of said committee, and the actual expense in producing witnesses before it.

Discussing Thather's full.

Discussing Thacher's Bill.

Nearly the entire afternoon was taken up by a discussion in the committee of the whole upon Senator Thacher's bill, which permits railroads to have preferred stock. Senator Thacher explained that if such a law was not adopted the Santa Fe Railroad Commany welld be compelied to reorganize under the laws of Blinots instead of Kansas. The discussion took a wide range along the lines of stocks and boms and first and second mortgages until nearly everybody was honelessly lost, but finally a few steady heads straightened matters out, and the bill was recommended for passage.

Price's Text Book Bill.

At I o'clock this afternoon the house backled down to the discussion of the Price text book bill. The main features of the bill are: First, the state board of education and the attorney general shall constitute a board of commissioners to select a series of text books, second, the commission shall advertise for bids from authors and publishing houses to furnish standard school text books for a period of five years, third the commission shall require a deposit of £50 to accompany each bid as an evidence of good faith; fourth, if any bid is accepted, the bidder will be remired to give bond in the sum of at least £50,00, conditioned that the bidder will fallfill the contract; fifth, the books contracted for shall be purchased by the several boards of education and school districts of the state, and loaned to the scholars of the various districts.

Mr. Benefiel offered a substitute for the section which provides for the make-up of the commission so that it should be composed of the state superintendent, attorney general and the superintendents of schools in cities of the first class. This was favored by Mr. Renefiel and Mr. Cubbison, and opposed by Hopkins and Miller, of Morris. The committee decided to stand by the original section.

Pending the discussion of an amendment which makes it optional with districts to purchase the books adopted by the school book commission the committee rose.

The house this morning came up smiling The house this morning came up smiling with about iwenty fresh bills, which were read a first and second time and referred. One, by Lambert of Lyon, proposes to prevent the adulteration of vinegar; one, by Mr. Metzler, for the relief of destitute settlers west of the ninety-ninth meridian; one, by Mr. Stromquist, to regulate the practice of dentistry. The other bills are mainly local in character, but among them is one which recalls the former days in Kansas.

The City of Haleyon.

The City of Haleyon.

Back in the boom days some sentimental land agents established the city of Haleyon in Wichita county. The city was to be the abode of peace and prosperity, but things didn't come its way and the city of peace peacefully died, one of the bills introduced this morning was to vacate the town of Haleyon.

A bill appropriating $2,000 to purchase coal for the destitute Western settlers was introduced this morning and on emergency was jumped past the committee and put on third reading and pussed.

War Times Recalled.

was jumped past the committee and put on third reading and passed.

War Times Recalled.

A senate joint resolution, requesting that congress should pension D. W. Boutwell for services performed by him during the Price raid, passed the house. D. W. Boutwell who is an old citizen of Butler county, at the time of the Price raid, it is claimed, dressed in the butternut clothes of a Missouri bushwhacker, went from General Curtis' camp on the Hig Blue, with a dispatch to General Pleasanton. Boutwell, who wore long hair, had the dispatch concealed under his ample locks. He made his way to Price's camp and to the rebel general's neadquarters. At night he managed to get put on picket duty, and during the night descried and made his way to Pleasanton's camp. As a result of this dispatch the commands of Pleasanton and Curtis attacked Price in front and rear, routing him and driving him out of the state. In 1825 the Kansas legislature, in consideration of Bluwell's services, made an appropriation of $1.000 for his benefit. He afterward removed to Butler county, where he has since lived.

Constitutional Convention Resolution.

At 10 o'clock the house proceeded to the consideration of the proposition to call a constitutional convention, with Mr. Hop-kins, of Finney, in the chair, The debate was led by Mr. Trueblood, on the Populist idla of the house. constitutional convention, with Mr. Hopkins, of Finney, in the chair. The debate was led by Mr. Trueblood, on the Populist side of the house.

He said that there was a sentiment in this state that the people did not know their own minds. It had only been two years since the people of Kansas had decided that they did not want a constitutional convention, but there was a certain element that wanted to continually ram this question down the throats of the people. If a constitutional convention was called it would be annagonized by all the supporters of prohibition all over the state, without regard to party. The expense of the convention would amount to hundreds of
the convention would amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars. Not only that, but a new constitution would have to be passed upon by the supreme court and the people would be in a muddle of uncertainty for a period of fifteen years. He was in favor of leaving the constitution, with its few defects, alone, rather than go to the expense of calling a constitutional convention, with its attendant expense and uncertainty.

Mr. Benefiel, of Montgomery, spoke in favor of the resolution. He was in favor of giving the people a chance to have a new constitution, if they wanted it. If the people wanted to do away with prohibition they ought to have that right, if they wanted to adopt female suffrage, they ought to have the right to do it.

Mr. Johnson, of Anderson, spoke against the resolution, and there was no call to submit again. This legislature would not be justified in forcing this expense upon the people.

Mr. Cole spoke in favor of the resolution, constitution still contained the word "white," and there ought to be a rew constitution in the Interest of the colored race.

Speaker Lobdell made an eloquent argument against the resolution. He said he had heard so much about the state having outgrown the constitution that he had been led to believe it. He had really supposed that our constitution was an incongraous piece of patchwork, until he had come to examine it for serious defects, and had been unable to find them. The calling of a convention would mean that the prohibitory question must all be fought over again.

It would mean at a most conservative estimate an expense of $250,000 to the people of the State.

Mr. Marshall, of Rice, said he had listened with anxiety for the gentlemen who favored a new constitution to give reasons for the faith that was within them. He had listened with a feeling of disappointment to the gentlemen from Barten, when he had only suggested one real reason for calling a constitutional convention was that there might be a probate judge protem appointed.

Mr. Pancake, of the Populist side of the chamber, spoke against the resolution. He called attention to the suggestions of Governor Morrill in favor of the resolution. He called attention to the suggestions of Governor Morrill in favor of a convention, and said these reasons were ample in his judgment for calling a constitutional convention.

Mr. Beekman, of Cowley, made a powerful argument in favor of the resolution. He said that the sun worshipers of the East had but one idea, and that was a blind autoration of the sun. There seemed to be some people in Kansas who, like the sun worshipers, had only one idea, and that was a prohibition at who voted for the prohibitors amendment, and would vote for it said, he was not afraid to trust the people on this question.

Harry Eoue, of Clark, spoke in favor of the resolution. He said that the way not a favor of the resolution. He said that the way in the resolution. He was not afraid to trust the people on this question.
